

"What makes these discussions . . . so bracing is their combination of common sense and an ability to place America's relationship with a particular country in both a historical perspective and a regional context of competing interests and threats. Their book should be required reading."—Michiko Kakutani, New York Times

AMERICA AND THE WORLD

CONVERSATIONS ON THE FUTURE OF AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY

ZBIGNIEW BRZEZINSKI AND BRENT SCOWCROFT ■ MODERATED BY DAVID IGNATIUS

"[Brzezinski and Scowcroft] advise their country to take a deep breath and evaluate problems dispassionately by discussing and breaking down the range of foreign policy challenges. What makes America and the World required reading is the confident approach to the world the authors advocate for the United States, with a sure knowledge of America's potential as well as its limitations."

—Harvard Political Review

America's status as a world power remains at a historic turning point. The strategies employed to win the wars of the twentieth century are no longer working, and the U.S. must contend with the changing nature of power in a globalized world. In America and the World, two of the most respected figures in American foreign policy, Zbigniew Brzezinski and Brent Scowcroft, dissect the challenges facing the U.S. today: the Middle East, Russia, and China, among others. In spontaneous conversations the two authors explore their agreements and disagreements. Defining the center of responsible opinion on American foreign policy, America and the World is an essential primer on a host of urgent issues that is ideal for courses in foreign policy and international relations.
