Green Planet Blues provides students with a global range of perspectives on the critical challenges facing the planet and its people. This unique anthology stresses the underlying questions of power, interests, authority, and legitimacy that shape global environmental debates. Revised and updated throughout, the fourth edition:

Reflects a wide range of viewpoints, including contemporary and classic, activist and scholarly, and powerless and powerful perspectives.

Features an international scope, discussing environment and growth in developing nations along with specific cases from around the world.

Includes fourteen new readings focusing on globalization and environmental change; transnational activist networks; the UN Environment Programme; environment–conflict linkages, including the case of Darfur; environmental peacebuilding; the debate on greening foreign aid; and the linkages between climate change and human rights.
